

2024 Virginia General Assembly Legislative Wrap-Up

Description

Virginia Land Title Association End of Session Report

12 March, 2024

The General Assembly adjourned sine die on March 9th. Adjournment on time and with a budget had been a goal of the new democratic leadership since the beginning of session. Even though there were some 11th hour difficulties we did manage to accomplish both. This session began with historic turnover in both chambers due to our new non-partisan redistricting system. This ushered in almost totally new leadership in both the House and the Senate. Because of this we had expected the start of session to be a little rough but both chambers got on track quickly. Since the General Assembly is controlled by democrats and the Governor is a republican, we can expect an exciting reconvene session. There are numerous bills that will be heavily amended or vetoed. Further complicating matters is the failure of the legislature to include funding in the biennial budget for the Governor's signature arena deal which sought to bring both the Washington Capitols and Wizards to Alexandria. While it isn't too late to strike a deal, the sides seem very far apart.

Below are bills of specific interest to the Virginia Land Title Association.
